

Return to school

Dear parents/guardians,

Tomorrow marks the return to school for year 13. Before we start, I wanted to make you aware of some of the protocols and changes for the upcoming year.

Leadership team

As you will be aware, we appointed our new student leadership team for the coming year (see below). The students appointed have already been showing their dedication to the roles and I look forward to working with them on various projects over the next year.

Head Students – Jonathan Dodd and Kai Mallett

Deputy Head Students – Harry McBain, Suzette Buraganya, Paige Hopkins, Eve Watson

Sixth Form Dress Code

As with the lower, we will be reinforcing the sixth form dress code this year. The Sixth Form Dress Code has not changed since the students started and is based around the principle of 'smart casual'. The dress code can be found here:

Additional Studies

As part of the government's Covid catch up plan, all students in year 13 have had the number of hours they need to be studying by 1 hour a week. In order to meet this, all year 13 students will have an 'additional studies' session on their timetable each week. We have designed a course that will help the students with their progression onto the stages of their journey.

Progression

This term is a key term for progression planning. As we return to school, we will be providing more details about the progression routes. I would encourage you to explore the following websites to gain a clearer understanding of the most common progression paths:

Social media

I would encourage you to follow both the Emmbrook Sixth Form twitter and Youtube channels. We plan to start using both again, as an extra form of communication, from this term.

I hope you all have a wonderful summer.
