

Sixth Form Newsletter 23/02/24

Dear Parents and Carers,

Year 13 Exam week

Next week is year 13 exam week. All students have received their timetables and have been working with teachers to prepare for these examinations. This will be our last opportunity to gain a clear understanding of how our students are progressing towards their final exams. We wish them all the best next week.

Progression

Now that UCAS is largely completed, we have shifted our focus to those in year 13 who are not applying to university. All of these students will be offered a careers appointment within the next three weeks and then tutors will work with them to secure suitable progression pathways for when they have finished A levels.

Careers

This week we have had a major push on year 12 career information and guidance. The students have had a lecture from Oxford Brooks around how to pick a university and course and have been involved in a career's day led by ex-Head Student JD Okito. Both events were aimed at providing our year 12 students with a solid foundation as we enter into a key phase for their post 18 options.

ARC

The ARC service has now started. The students had an interactive introduction to the service on Wednesday and going forward, ARC will be onsite every two weeks to provide drop in sessions for our learners.

Fundraising Week

Lastly, I wanted to pass on my thanks to all those who supported fundraising week. In total we raised nearly £1400 for two wonderful charities.
