

Sixth Form Newsletter 21/06/24

Dear Parents and Carers,

Year 12 Working from home

Over the next couple of weeks, we have year 12 parents working from home for two days.

- Friday 28th June – year 11 into 12 induction day
- Monday 1st July – year 13 leavers day

We understand that disruption is never ideal, and teachers will be setting work for students to complete from home on these days.

Work Experience

Work experience week is approaching, from Monday 1st July to Friday 5th July. As a reminder, students will only be able to attend work experience if it has been approved by the school. In order to do this, it need to have been uploaded to Unifrog with enough time for the employers to complete their details and the school to approve the placement. This needs to be approved by the school by the 27th June at the very latest.

Year 12 Parents Evening

Year 12 parents evening is taking place next week. Details should have been sent out yesterday. We would encourage all parents to book for this valuable opportunity to understand how your child is progressing within Sixth Form.

Year 12 exams

Year 12 exams are now completed. Congratulations to all the students for the hard work they have put in over the last year and the last week to get these exams completed. The teaching staff are now working hard to get these marked and will release the marks as soon as reasonably possible. In addition, marks will be formally communicated home in monitoring later this week.

UCAS predicted grades

As a reminder, our UCAS predicted grades are based upon the end of year 12 results. Once the students have received their grades, teachers will work with them to predict a results that is accurate and fair whilst also providing students with the best opportunity to keep their progression options open.

Dress code

We have had a few issues with the dress code recently. A reminder of the dress code is below. Tutors will be discussing issues next week. Any questions, please ask.

Jumpers	Smart jumpers Cardigans Hoodies (with hoods down)	Jumpers with large/offensive logos
Shoes	Sensible shoes or smart trainers	Flip flops (H&S reasons) Sliders (H&S reasons)
Other	Coats and jackets are allowed but must not be worn in classrooms Hats are allowed but must not be worn indoors Student lanyard must be worn at all times	Hairstyles should not be extreme Jewellery should not be excessive

Punctuality

Attendance to form time has been excellent recently, and we want to commend the students for this. Whilst attendance is in a positive place, we have noticed that punctuality has become a minor issue. Over the next week, we will be communicating home any punctuality issues and working with our students to make sure that this vital life skill is developed throughout the next phase of their studies

Hope you all have a good weekend.

Kind regards

David Constable
